SATURDAY EVENING, APRIL 16, 1910

ROOSEVELT IN VIENNA. The Austrian capital is giving 'x-President Roosevelt a warm welcome. The enthusiasm does not equal that manifested at Porto Maurizio but the curiosity shown in Viennais far greater than that in Naples or Rome. Whereever Mr. Roosevelt goes a crowd gathers to see him, while there is constanty a crowd outside his hotel, which increases or diminishes according to the expectation of the visitor's appearance. As at Rome and Porto Maurizio the populace insist upon calling him "President." Cordial volleys of "Hochs" always greet his appearance. Mr. Roosevelt's audience with the aged Emperor Francis Joseph yesterday in the Hofburg Palace occupied 40 minutes. It was held in a private apartment as a special mark of esteem. The emperor was dressed in the splendid uniform of a general. From room to room Roosevelt was ushered by relays of court officials in gorgeous livery. He declined to tell the correspondents anything that passed between himself and the emperor. There had been much discussion at court concerning bow the emperor should properly address Bonse-velt, he not being royal, a president or a governor. The archives of the palace were searched for a precedent, for the Austrian court is perhaps the most punctilious in Europe in matters of etiquette. Apparently it was finally con-cluded that the emperor might call the ex-president "My great friend" without violating any of the principles or theories of court etiquette.
